Office Action Summary

Applicants argue that the intermediate product does not lose its identity in the final product. However, the intermediate product <sup>es</sup> do so lose its identity when mixed with the ingredients for a product, which is later baked, such as the claimed cake.

A new election of species is required in view of applicants' new claims.

FATS
Claim 96 is generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising hydrophobic agents. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Claims to non-elected inventions will be rejoined, should the claims to the elected invention be deemed allowable and should those non-elected claims contain the same limitations as the elected claims.
